

A close-up photograph of several pink hydrangea flowers in bloom. The petals are a vibrant pink color, and the center of each flower is filled with numerous small, light-colored stamens. The background is dark and out of focus, showing green leaves and a hint of a red surface.

Judges 05:04 LORD, when thou wentest out of Seir, when thou marchedst out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, the clouds also dropped water.