

A close-up photograph of a garden scene. In the foreground, a yellow tulip is in full bloom, its petals slightly curled. To its right, a pink tulip is also in bloom, showing vibrant magenta petals. Several green tulip buds are visible, some partially open. The background is filled with green leaves and stems, creating a lush, natural setting. The text is overlaid in a white, serif font, centered across the image.

Jeremiah 25:14 For many nations and great kings shall serve themselves of them also: and I will recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their own hands.