

Deutronomy 18:21 And if thou say in thine heart, How shall we know the word which the LORD hath not spoken?

A close-up photograph of a vibrant pink torch lily flower. The flower's petals are long, pointed, and layered, creating a torch-like shape. The color is a deep, saturated pink. In the background, there are dark green leaves with prominent white or light green variegated stripes. The lighting is soft, highlighting the texture of the petals.